

FREEDOM IN CHRIST ASSEMBLY

Lifestyle and Morality Standards

This policy sets out standards and principles that express loving faithfulness and service to Christ as a condition of service with Freedom, whether as a ministry personnel or an employee.

In all its endeavours, Freedom seeks to glorify God. Volunteers and employees of Freedom are required to fully support the objectives of Freedom to endorse the Christian commitment of the membership, and to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with principles of Scripture. The points outlined in this policy are based on Scripture, which is accepted by Freedom to be the final authority in matters of faith and conduct.

All who serve with Freedom are encouraged to establish personal, spiritual disciplines that will foster and promote a deep, intimate relationship with God, which is essential to effective service as a Christian believer. This includes prayer, Bible study, regular church attendance, and sharing of faith and beliefs with others. Active membership with beliefs that are consistent with Freedom's statement of faith is a requirement to demonstrate a personal commitment to the Lord Jesus Christ. Freedom rejects the following conduct, viewing it as being incompatible with Christian standards and values for the personal lifestyle of anyone serving with Freedom.

Breach of trust or confidence	Matthew 5:37; 19:18; Philippians 4:8; 1 John 3:3

Enforcement of Morality Standards

In the event of a violation or breach of these standards, Freedom will attempt to bring about the restoration of the individual to maintain a working relationship with the organization depending upon the nature and extent of the violation or breach. The “discipline” process allows for a three-stage process, the second and third stages being at the total discretion of Freedom. The first stage of discipline shall be a review of the problem by the supervisor and/or the Pastor together with the employee or volunteer.

The second stage of discipline is the “restorative” process which is dependent not only on the repentance by the individual employed or volunteering in reference to the conduct complained of, but also on the nature and severity of the breach or violation. In the second stage of discipline, Freedom may recommend that the employee or ministry personnel undergo professional counselling and assessments and may apply a probationary period of service to allow for the correction of the conduct or behaviour of the employee or volunteer. When restoration is deemed complete and is determined to be successful, as determined in the sole discretion of Freedom, then Freedom will provide ongoing support and accountability for the individual employee or volunteer.

The third stage of discipline is the termination of the working relationship between the employee or ministry personnel and Freedom. As the violation of this policy is recognized by Freedom and the employee or ministry personnel as a fundamental breach of the relationship, the employee or ministry personnel accepts that Freedom may in its sole discretion terminate the relationship without notice or compensation.

At functions where an individual is attending as a representative of Freedom, abstinence from the use of tobacco and alcohol is required out of respect for the diversity of opinion within the evangelical community on the use of these products, and to give extra care to avoid causing offence or setting an inappropriate example. The use of tobacco is discouraged out of consideration for the health and well-being of the individual and their work associates and family.
